Census Takers

The Census Bureau will soon employ at least 25,000 enumerators to obtain data in every township or similar subdivision in the United States for its regular five-yearly report on the status of agriculture.

The Census Bureau insists that its enumerators have the following qualifications: they must be citizens of the United States; have at least an elementary education and be able to write legible and fairly rapidly; be energetic men and women of good address, character and habits; have a practical knowledge of farming or some occupation closely connected with farming, i.e., farmers, graduates or students of agricultural schools, familiar with farm conditions, and be residents of and well known to the citizens of the locality in which their duties are to be performed.

The Census Bureau will give preference in its appointments to farmers, farmers' wives, sons and daughters. Properly qualified veterans will also be given preference.

Two hundred twenty-five district supervisors will be appointed. Applications for positions as enumerator should be made by mail direct to the supervisors in the particular locations as soon as announcement of their appointment appears in the local papers. Applicants for the position of enumerator will be given a test by a representative of the Census Bureau from Washington and the district supervisor. Such tests will show the relative fitness of the applicants for the position.

Payment of enumerators will be on a piece-price basis. Active, energetic and thorough workers should earn $4.00 to $5.00 per day for an employed period of 15 to 20 days.

The work is not difficult to perform as the information required by the Census Bureau is fully and specifically indicated on each report schedule.

Interested persons may obtain "sample copies" of the general farm schedule or questionnaire which will be used by writing the Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C.

LADIES AID MEETS

Cannel City, Ky.—The Ladies Aid Society of the Cannel City Union Church held their regular meeting Thursday Dec. 6, with Mrs. D. P. Peyton.

Mrs. A. C. Carter, president, was in charge of the meeting, which was opened by singing "Tis So Sweet To Trust In Jesus" and "Brighten The Corner Where You Are." The hostess led the devotional, reading the 12th chapter of Romans. Miss Sallie Minor led in prayer which was concluded with the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. M. R. Elam, Treasurer, called the roll and Miss Minor, secretary, read the minutes of the preceding meeting. After the collection of dues and other business was disposed of, the remainder of the afternoon was spent in work. Three new members were welcomed. Mrs. J. W. Benton, Miss Lorene Briscoe and Miss Allene Zornes.

During the social hour, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Leonidas Peyton served delightful refreshments of doughnuts, cocoa and home-made candy.

Members present were: Mrs. M. R. Elam, Mrs. J. W. Benton, Miss Lorene Briscoe, Miss Allene Zornes, Miss Sallie Minor, Mrs. G. W. Leslie, Mrs. J. T. Sebastian, Mrs. Oscar Arnett, Mrs. M. P. Briscoe, Mrs. W. T. Stamper and Mrs. A. C. Carter. Visitors were: Mrs. Lonnie Patrick, Mrs. L. C. Peyton and Mrs. Leonidas Peyton.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church met last Thursday and Friday afternoons at the church to keep the week of prayer for foreign missions. In spite of the bad weather there was a good attendance and an interesting and instructive program well carried out both days. The missions of many countries were studied and prayer held for the workers in these foreign lands.

The next meeting will be Thursday afternoon, Dec. 20.

CANNEL CITY SCHOOL NEWS

Honor Roll

First grade: Hallie May Donovan, Dolores Jean Davidson, Margaret Gullett, Loretta Nickell, Junior Collins, and Eugene Havens.

Fourth grade: Susan Benton, Blanch Lacy, Cozetta Lacy, Loretta Collins, Denzil Nickell, Carl Lykins, and Edwin Elam.

Fifth grade: William Minor.

Sixth grade: Anita Peyton and Billy Howard.

Eighth grade: Flora Benton.

High school: Inez Lacy, Reva Burton, Lillian Dunn, Myrtle Adams, Elizabeth Burton, Nancy Bailey, Doris Weddington, Waldo Risner, Ernest Reed, Madeline Ferguson.

The dramatic club is planning for its next play, "The Wild Flower of the Hills." This is to be given Saturday night, Dec. 21; if weather conditions will permit. It is one of Lillian Mortimer's beautiful stories with plenty of laughs and tears. The scene is laid in the hills of dear old Kentucky, and is very, true to life. You really can't afford to miss it.

Basketball

Last Friday and Saturday the Raiders participated in a tournament for outdoor teams held in the Paintsville high school gymnasium. The teams entered were Inez, Flatgap, Blaine, Salsersville, Royalton, Warfield, Oil Springs, and Cannel City.

After beating Warfield in the preliminary and Oil Springs in the semi-finals, the Raiders lost to Inez, which had previously defeated Royalton and Salsersville.

Before the tournament started it was conceded that Inez, which won the regional meet last year and made a good showing at Lexington, would win. However, all the other teams were fighting for a chance to play Inez in the finals, and our school is very proud of the fact that the Raiders were able to do so.

When the final game came Saturday night the team was playing its fourth game in three days, and of course the players were exhausted, as all the other games had been close and Cannel City had not been able to relieve the first team much with substitutes.

Inez was playing in only its third game in two days, and had used substitutes in both the first two for nearly half the games. This is not intended as an alibi for defeat, for the fact remains that Inez outclasses any team in eastern Kentucky, and is rated very high through the state.

The scores of the games were: Raiders 27, Warfield 20. Raiders 20, Oil Springs 16. Raiders 17, Inez 45.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Some of the oldest and most prominent citizens of our town quietly celebrated at their home in Kendall addition, Nov. 3, 1934. So quite was the great event, that the neighbors have just found it out.

The occasion was Mrs. Renben Cassity's eightieth birthday told by candles on a large birthday cake. The table was heavily laden with good things and a number of relatives on Long Branch joined in making the event a happy one.

Mrs. Cassity does her own work and cooks for their boarder, Dr. L. D. Carter, who was the youngest and spriest of her guests. Mr. Cassity, slightly older than his good wife, has just put a new roof on their house.

May Mr. and Mrs. Cassity enjoy many more such happy occasions.

TO AVOID NIGHT DRIVING

Rev. Harlin Murphy filled his regular preaching appointment at Salsersville on Sunday. To avoid night driving, often on slippery roads, arrangements were made with the church to have preaching only in the daytime from now until March first, at which time the two sermon schedule will be resumed.

SPEND THANKSGIVING HERE

Misses Anna Cottle and Minnie Leigh Dean of Louisville spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Cottle, Mrs. Cynthia Ann Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Cottle and son Harold all of near town, returning to Louisville on Sunday afternoon, December 2.

to Ponder

Thoughtful people are appalled at the thought of nine federal agents being slain in pursuit and capture of the notorious Dillinger gang. This tragedy upon tragedy may be traced to the thoughtless paroling of Dillinger by the Governor of Indiana. That act released a desperado upon society, who through his influence and daring manner was able to get cooperation of lesser lights of gangdom. Thinking people, too, will hereafter give greatest protest to granting parole to men of criminal tendencies. Men who commit crimes in moments of passion or mental aggravation are due some consideration, but men who deliberately plan and commit crimes deserve no such mercy. They should be permanently separated from society. Mandolin sympathy is not a sound basis for parole. Nine brave officers killed or mortally wounded in line of duty, more than that many homes shadowed with grief, a score of children orphaned, many to become wards of society, is a price too dear to pay for such folly. The loss of money and property in the wake of the sordid affair sinks into oblivion in a flood of tears, wreckage of homes, and blighted human happiness.

If someone had said a hundred years ago that by 1934 the Constitution would be plastered with 21 amendments, and could have made the people believe it, a cry would have gone up that we would have no Constitution by this time. Great men of good intentions have always been trying to make the Constitution elastic enough to save them. Review the 21 amendments to the Constitution and decide for yourself if the great document is now stronger or weaker because of the changes. To argue that the Constitution should not be changed is to argue that no law should be changed. It would be to say that conditions never change. The purpose of law is to govern society, and as society advances, laws must conform to society's needs. The so-called "Liberty League" seeks to save the Constitution. The head of that organization, Mr. Jewett Shouse, he it recall, said nothing about saving the Constitution when he was at the head of another organization whose purpose it was to add the twenty-first amendment to that document.

The President's Cabinet, with a few possible exceptions, cannot be rated as good leaders, the they are regarded as good and harmonious workers. Secretary of State Hull could be rated as an exception due to his pioneering diplomacy in international affairs. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is courageously pointing the way to a new philosophy of solving our rural problems. He has also taken the role of prophet in pointing out to America several roads from which she must choose one. Secretaries Dern and Swanson, of the Army and Navy respectively, are merely performing their routine duties. Ickes of the Interior has shown capacity and courage as a plan pusher, but behind official curtains in Washington the thought is that others do the major planning. Postmaster General Farley has specialized in a field of party planning, and has adhered devotedly to the tradition of his office. Frances Perkins is admired and applauded for her independent and clear judgment of labor problems. She is succeeding well in her own field, but outside of that has exhibited no exceptional brilliancy. The Treasury man, by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., has been the Nation's main pulse for some time, but students of economics know that our monetary policies have not been thought out in the Treasury, but elsewhere. It is for these reasons that President Roosevelt still holds the center of attraction on the New Deal stage. A close student, clear thinker and eminent lawyer himself, his closest friends say that his brain gives birth to new ideas with the same ease with which he smiles.

As a rule great emergencies produce or discover great men. Events make men as well as men make events. Surveying the field of national personnel at the waning of a world-wide depression, it is noticeable that so few have distinguished themselves in the great human crisis. There must be an answer. No man rises as prophet and pioneer of his time unless he has felt the sufferings of his day. Men who have been endeavoring to reconstruct our economic disorder and rebuild our fallen financial structure are those who have not suffered real hunger, gone half-clothed, stood without shelter or in the shadow of being evicted from their places of abode. Inconvenience and suffering to one man may be luxury and happiness to another. The man who draws an income of $10,000 a year and is reduced to an income of $3,000 may make much ado, but his plight cannot be compared with the man whose income from labor or investments has been completely swept away. Man's understanding comes from experience. If some of our would-be national leaders had been reduced to the bread line and stood like millions of others shivering and patiently waiting for a hand-out from the baskets of charity, the efforts of these men would have been felt through the land in interest of the down-trodden, forgotten, and unfortunate. It is to be deplored that out of this human suffering the nation has not produced a Moses from the ranks. This statement is not to take one laurel from those who have labored unselfishly and devotedly in the alleviation of human suffering.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Thursday, Dec. 6, at the home of Mrs. Ollie Blair. After the usual order of business, the following officers were installed for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. C. K. Stacy; vice president, Mrs. Herbert Trayner; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Caskey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. I. J. Scudder; recording secretary, Mrs. Roland Stacy.

Delicious refreshments of cakes and cocoa were served to the following members: Mrs. W. A. Caskey, Mrs. Ova Black, Mrs. Will Childers, Mrs. A. P. Gullett, Mrs. James Franklin, Mrs. Henry Cole, Mrs. C. K. Stacy, Mrs. Earl Price, Mrs. Ada Cochran, Mrs. T. H. Caskey, Mrs. Henry Perry, Mrs. Herbert Trayner, Mrs. Ollie Blair, Rev. and Mrs. I. J. Scudder, and three guests, Mrs. Asa Blair, Mrs. Sherman Lewis, and Mrs. McClain.

ENTERTAIN HUNTERS

Dr. B. F. Robinson of Lexington, Dr. J. J. Brooks and Dr. Charles Stacy of Pineville, L. F. Hammond and Asa Blair of West Liberty, Boyd Blair and Jesse Whitt of Wrigley spent last Wednesday hunting at Blaze. The party were entertained and nourished with a wonderful dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Lewis. Rev. Harlin McClure was a member of the party at dinner.

LADIES' AID MEETS

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church met on Thursday of last week with Miss Josephine McGuire for an all day quilting.

Those present were Mrs. Floyd Arnett, Mrs. Harlen Murphy, Mrs. Will Wells, Mrs. G. I. Fannin, Mrs. R. D. Sparks, Mrs. Wiley Steele, Mrs. Oscar Caskey, Mrs. Susie Johnson, Mrs. Cox McGuire, Mrs. Ollie McClain, Mrs. Elbert Faulner, Mrs. I. S. Williams, Misses Laura Easterling, Gladys Williams, Florence and Josephine McGuire.

After a morning spent in quilting, dinner, furnished by various members of the society, was served. The devotional was led by the president, Mrs. Arnett, with prayer by Rev. Harlen Murphy. The ladies had as their guests Bro. Murphy and Elwood Johnson.

The Society will meet again with Miss Josephine McGuire this week to quilt.

FINISHES TRAINING COURSE

Floyd O. Rupe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rupe, of Wellington, has come to the end of the course of training at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, and on Thursday, Dec. 20, will receive its diploma with other members of the graduating class. He is eligible also to receive the diploma of the Evangelical Teacher Training Association.

WILL YOU HELP

At a meeting of the P. T. A. Monday evening every member pledged their support to the new school building. The County Supt. has been able to get a letter from Mr. Lowe, state director of work of the F.E.R.A., that they felt this was one of the best projects in the state and they hoped it would be completed and pledged $50,000 in labor for the building. The excavation is being done and the stone is being quarried. The need right now is for teams and trucks to haul the stone from the quarry to the grounds. Many of the patrons present pledged that they would be responsible for a team or a truck one day to haul stone. The P. T. A. voted $50 to Supt. Hane to be used for this purpose. Mr. Hane has men to load and unload the stone. It is a desire of all the people that every patron have some part in the new building, the most valuable thing ever begun for Morgan County and since every child that desires may attend school free and since no extra tax is being levied on the tax payers, it is hoped that people outside of West Liberty will also help since it will be their school. Therefore everyone that feels like they would like to contribute something will have the opportunity to do so.

Everyone is urged to contribute something to the P. T. A. transportation Committee.

Mrs. W. A. Caskey, Pres. P. T. A.

LEGION COOPERATES

Indianapolis, Ind. Nov. 7, 1934. National Tuberculosis Association 50 West 50 Street New York City

Gentlemen: I earnestly commend to Legionnaires and to all good citizens the heroic fight that is being waged against tuberculosis. Public welfare requires that the good work accomplished in the past shall suffer no impairment this year. The American Legion, as in the past, is glad to cooperate in the sale of Christmas Seals during December to finance the necessary machinery for the control and prevention of tuberculosis, including clinics, sanatoria, open air schools, medical and nursing services, and research and educational activities.

Tuberculosis is a public enemy and it must be stamped out.

Sincerely,
FRANK N. BELGRANO, JR.,
National Commander,
American Legion.

There is also in my hands a letter by Walter L. Biering, M. D., President American Medical Association, but lack of space prohibits printing it. It has been the custom for the chairman to sell seals to the business men but I feel that this would be unfair to the school children. So I am urging that each one of you, business men, veterans, doctors and all, will buy as many seals, or more, this year as you have bought in previous years, taking them from the children. Let us all join in this fight against the disease of which we all have a horror—TUBERCULOSIS.

MARGARET M. BRONG
Seal Sale Chairman

OUTDOOR CLUB PARTY

Wrigley, Ky.—Miss Avenelle Whitt gave a party to the Outdoor Club of Wrigley high school on Dec. 6. Present were Misses Bonita Morgan, Joyce Henry, Florene Lewis, Anna Henry, Irene Barber, Ida Wilson, Marjorie Whitt, Lou Beryl Fannin, Avenelle Whitt, and Pauline Whitt; Mrs. Betty Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Whitt, W. T. Lykins, Clayton Dehart, Cohen Lewis, Billy Barber, Ray Fannin, Albin Lewis, Glen Clevinger, Emory Lee Clevinger, Clyde Dehart, Lloyd Cassity, and Wendell Lewis.

Fudge, seafoam candy, and taffy were served. The taffy was the most fun because the guests participated in pulling it. Many interesting games were played. The party broke up at 11 o'clock and the guests departed, proclaiming Avenelle and her mother excellent hostesses.

Outdoor sports being a part of the club work, the hike of 2½ miles back to Wrigley was made merry with singing.—Contributed.

Joker Is No Joke

The attorneys for Churchill Downs have asked of the court an injunction to prevent the collection of $2,500 a day for the state during the race meet and $1,000 for the city of Louisville upon the grounds that those license fees were repealed by the gross sales tax which imposed a tax of 3 per cent on tickets sold at the gate. Nobody in the Legislature except a few knew that there was a joker in the sales tax to exempt the race courses from their license fees to the state or the city of Louisville. Of course, if it is there and Churchill Downs is exempted from this $2,500 per day the same will apply to Latonia where Maurice Galvin is the registered lobbyist and where "Cousin Polk" Lafoon is supposed to be largely interested financially. Of course, it looks very much like the attorneys for Churchill Downs—race track—knew what was in this bill. It is not surprising, if the joker is there which will exempt them from this license fee, in order to get rid of the tax from which the legislature never contemplated that they should be relieved and perhaps even Governor Lafoon was entirely ignorant of the provision, but that is how things are worked at Frankfort. The sales tax put the burden of taxation, according to their incomes, upon the poorest people of the state. At the same time another act was passed, ostensibly for the benefit of the farmer, but really relieving large corporations of a twenty-five cents on the one hundred dollars on their real estate holdings.

If the members of the House and Senate had been told that the gross sales tax, if passed, would exempt the race courses from their license fee of $2,500 to the state it never would have passed, but it was put in there, so the attorneys for the Churchill Downs seem to claim, and the legislature did not know it was there. There ought to be some way for the supreme court of our state to rule out as illegal a provision that the legislature never contemplated being a part of the act. Of course, this will be very hard to do but it serves notice to the people to what length certain interests will go to shift the burden of taxation from their shoulders to that of the laboring man and the poor of our state.

FOWLS LOSE HEALTH WHEN PUSHED HARD

Vitality of the Birds Must Have Consideration.

By R. S. Dearborne, North Carolina State College Poultry Department—WNU Service.

The evolution of the fowl from a jungle bird laying 15 eggs a year to the modern hen laying up to 300 eggs in the same period is a monument to poultry science.

The fowl has been transformed from a partially herbivorous bird to one which will utilize large quantities of animal protein in egg manufacture.

The birds' bodies have probably changed in adapting themselves to the new diet.

Unfortunately, however, the tendency of the industry has been to stress increased production without sufficient consideration of fowl vitality.

The question of mortality is now a major concern of the industry and much thought and investigation must be spent before the problem can be solved. The problem is complex, as there are so many reasons for birds dying early.

A recent study of the causes of death in 4,440 fowls showed deaths were caused by the following conditions in the percentages listed: Diseases of the digestive tract, 15.9 per cent; intestinal parasites, 11.6 per cent; respiratory diseases, 9 per cent; tumors, 8.4 per cent; germ borne diseases, 7 per cent; diseases of the glandular organs, 6.9 per cent; constitutional diseases, 6.5 per cent; genital diseases, 6.5 per cent; abdominal diseases, 5.4 per cent; protozoan diseases, 5.4 per cent; nervous diseases, 4 per cent; accidental deaths, 3.6 per cent; diseases of the circulatory system, 1.3 per cent, and cutaneous diseases, 5 per cent.

This study brought out the fact that much of the work of reducing mortality will fall upon the individual poultryman to use better methods of flock management and of controlling the spread of disease.

Easy to Induce Turkey Hens to Use Box Nests

Make laying coops for turkey hens with no bottom so the nest will get the moisture from the ground. Make the dimensions 4 by 4 feet and high enough with a one-slope roof, advises a writer in the Indiana Farmer's Guide. The entrance should be 14 by 14 inches. The four sides are made of building lath and nailed on just like a wall to be plastered.

Locate the coops about 100 yards from your residence in a circle some distance apart. The hens watching others, especially on bad days, will learn to use these coops. This being about far enough away so the chicken hens will not disturb the nesting by scratching it out of place. After forming a trusty nest, place a nest egg as a turkey hen likes the looks of an egg before she sits on the nest, even the first time.

The openings in the coop are very important as peep holes, as the turkey hens always keep a sharp lookout while on the nest, and will not go into a dark place to make their nest.

Limber Neck in Chickens

Limber neck among chickens is a condition caused by poisoning which is characterized by a paralysis of the neck which makes it impossible for the chicken to raise its head from the ground. It is usually associated with putrid or spoiled meat in which poison producing organisms are growing, or of fly maggots which have bred on such material. Treatment for this ailment is rather unsatisfactory, but 3 or 4 teaspoonfuls of castor oil, if given during the early stages, is recommended. Limber neck occurs frequently on farms during summer where dead chickens or animals are overlooked by members of the farm family and decomposition sets in. Dead animals and birds should not be buried, unless buried very deep, for maggots work their way to the top of the ground and chickens will eat them and thus get limber neck.

In the Poultry Yard

Once a pullet stops laying it takes two or three weeks to get her started again.

Hens that are fed a small amount of cod-liver oil, about 2 per cent of their ration, produce eggs containing more copper and iron.

The belief that the greater number of eggs a hen lays, the poorer the quality of the eggs, is not upheld by tests.

Chickens can be made to grow faster as a result of crossing desirable strains, and fast growth improves their meat.

Growing chicks require calcium as a bone-building material, obtainable in easily digested form from chick size oyster shell.

If there is any doubt about the quality of the eggs to be sold, they should be candied and graded and the under-

FARMERS' COLUMN

THE FARM AND HOME

Highly flavored feeds may produce objectionable milk and cream, especially in winter. Do not feed at milking or near milking time corn silage, green alfalfa, cabbage, turnips, kale, soybeans or sweet clover. Feed them just after milking.

Farmers who acquire or build good poultry houses will need to exercise care about ventilation and overcrowding. A 20 by 20 house contains 400 square feet of floor space, which is room for 100 hens and 10 or 12 male birds.

Wrap the trunk of the newly-set tree from the lower branches to the ground with two or three thicknesses of newspaper or old bulap that has been cut in strips about 9 inches wide. Tie with string and leave until the material rots away.

Temperature of water for scalding hogs: For barrel scald, 155 to 160 degrees; for tank scald, 145 to 150 degrees. A temperature above 165 degrees, for either barrel or tank, is considered too high and is liable to cause the hair to set.

Farmers in the central states who face the problem of providing an emergency hay crop for 1935 may find the solution in seeding Korean lespedeza on winter wheat or with oats early next spring, says a statement sent out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

When company is entertained to luncheon or dinner, the meal should be simple so that the hostess may be rested and at ease. The menu should be planned so that not more than one dish will have to be prepared at the last minute, such as broiling steak, making the croquettes, or arranging the salad.

Sell To Licensed Dealers Selling tobacco over an organized loose leaf market or else to a licensed dealer, is urged by O. M. Farrington, state compliance officer for adjustment programs, at the agricultural experiment station at Lexington.

Producers are warned against indiscriminate selling to unregistered "pinhookers," truckers or neighboring farmers.

"Not only will a contracting grower have difficulty in executing and submitting a marketing card, but also he will be in considerable danger of complications with the Bureau of Internal Revenue, if and when he sells tobacco to a person other than a righttered dealer," says a letter sent out by Farrington.

Agents of the tobacco section of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration are stationed at markets, to fill in the all-important cards of growers and issue tax-payment warrants. Bills of sales must be presented to them at the time the sales are made, and tax-payment warrants obtained then. Otherwise the grower will be charged the 25 percent tax.

Growers must have their allotment cards with them when they sell their tobacco, or else suffer the tax penalty. Farrington has also issued a warning to growers about assigning their second benefit payment, as some farmers are said to have sold their crop and agreed to give the purchaser the second payment. The adjustment contract forbids assigning any payments or benefits.

Soak Evergreens

Because of the dry fall, it is advisable to soak the ground about evergreens before freezing weather sets in. As evergreens hold their leaves all winter, they give off moisture in large quantities. Unless moisture is supplied to their roots they may suffer winter injury.

N. R. Elliot, landscape gardener at the college of agriculture, university of Kentucky, advises two or three thorough soakings of the ground about the evergreen. Let 10 days or two weeks intervene between the waterings.

The Processing Tax

The producer who slaughters his own hogs and sells or exchanges directly to consumers not more than 300 pounds of the products derived during any marketing year is not required to pay the processing tax. If the producer sells more than 300 pounds but not more than 1,000 pounds of pork products from his own hogs direct to consumers he is liable for the tax only on the volume sold in excess of the 300 pound exemption. If he sells more than 1,000 pounds during any marketing year he loses his 300 pound exemption and is liable for the tax on all products derived from his hogs which he has sold. The amount of the tax is determined upon a live-weight basis, which is arrived at by using the conversion factors prescribed in the regulations. Farmers who slaughter and sell hogs not of their own raising are not entitled to the 300 pound exemption. Any farmer who processes hogs for consumption by his own family, employees, or household is exempt from the payment of tax thereupon.

Chilling Important

Comparatively little home butchering was done in Kentucky in November due to uncommonly mild temperatures. Chilling of the hog carcass is an important step in the preparation of home pork. In fact, Grady Sellards of the college of agriculture, who is giving a series of pork making demonstrations over the state, says that probably it is the most important step.

After the carcass has been cleaned, splitting down the center of the backbone and the removal of the leaf fat and of the head will assist in the chilling. A temperature of freezing or a little above is ideal for butchering.

If the temperature is much above freezing, it may be necessary to chill the carcass in a refrigerator or by the use of ice. It usually is sufficient to chill the carcass 24 to 48 hours.

In his demonstrations, Mr. Sellards shows how to cut up a carcass, and discusses the preservation of pork, and the making and preservation of sausage, and other important factors in home butchering.

He has held demonstrations in mason and Garrard counties and will hold others in Meade, Carroll, Bourbon, Jessamine, Jefferson, Ohio, Simpson, Bullitt, Hancock and Ballard counties.

CLASS SOCIAL

The Intermediate Class of the Baptist Sunday School met with their teacher, Miss Margaret M. Brong, Tuesday evening for a little recreation and wholesome fun. Each one invited a friend.

The first part of the evening the girls entertained each other with music. They then went to the kitchen and popped corn, cracked nuts and cooked and pulled taffy. Some had brought popcorn balls. All seemed to have a jolly time.

Squareheads

The term squareheads was originally a seafaring expression, and is probably due to the square shape of the Teutonic skull, often accentuated by close-cropped hair.

NOTICE

The regular meeting time for the Morgan Quarterly Court will fall on Christmas day. Now therefore it is ordered that the Court be continued to Thursday, December 27, 1934. All persons having business in the said Court will take notice and appear accordingly.

W. A. CASKEY, Judge Morgan Quarterly Court.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Lewis were county seat visitors last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Opa McKenzie had business in Lexington Monday.

Homer Elam is working into the dry goods line, and is now displaying the first few shipments.

Roger Adams, who has been in Chicago this winter with his aunt, is home for Christmas.

Santa Claus brought Homer Elam some fine new show cases to properly display his growing stock.

Miss Dorothy McKenzie visited at Pomph over the week end with her friend, Miss Ella Fairchild.

John Williams of White Oak was the dinner guest Saturday of Rev. and Mrs. Harlin Murphy in town.

The children will be pleased if you buy their Christmas gifts at the W. B. Reed Department Store.—Adv.

Henry Wells Jr. was able to resume teaching Monday. His pupils in the Wells school were happy to have him back.

The Wrigley people are certainly enjoying their new road. It takes them only a few minutes now to drive to the county seat.

Prof. and Mrs. Clyde Lewis moved in with the McGuire sister Tuesday and will enjoy Miss Josephine's fine cooking this winter.

Hubert Gibbs of Ft. Benjamin Franklin, Indiana came in Thursday to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gibbs.

Mrs. James Cottle went out to Cottle Thursday for a few days visit with her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cottle and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cottle.

Mrs. C. K. Stacy accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carter to Louisville Monday. Where Mrs. Carter it to undergo a major operation this week.

Mrs. Baldwin's Junior Music class will give a Christmas play Thursday Dec. 20, in the high school auditorium. Everyone invited. Admission free.

James Elam spent the week with his daughter, Mrs. Jesse Adams, returning to his home in Index Friday. Altho still helpless, he is in better spirits after the few weeks spent with his children.

W. A. Caskey took the last of his X-ray treatments for cancer in the face returning home Sunday. His speech is now restored. He can eat with ease and is looking fine. Everyone is glad to see our county judge back.

A cold spell with a total snow fall of about eight inches and originating in the Rocky Mountain section is now (Wednesday) breaking. The thermometer had reached near zero and it looked and felt like an oldtime winter.

The news has just come from Morehead (Wednesday) that the fine residence of G. W. Prichard is burning to the ground. Mr. Prichard is a brother to Mrs. W. A. Caskey and has many friends here who extend their sympathy in this great loss.

Mrs. J. D. Lykins and daughter, Anna Ruth, were in Lexington over the week end, the guests of her sister, Mrs. Taylor. They also took in the big parade Saturday and saw the red Santa Claus with his real reindeer and team of Esquimo dogs.

Bill Cox, who resides just east of town, and is a highway truck driver, had a wreck near White Oak as he was returning from his work Tuesday evening. The truck skidded and went over the bank. Mr. Cox had a bad cut across his forehead and one leg was badly bruised.

In naming the officers and teachers of the Sunday School lately organized at Flatwoods the reporter named Mrs. Nannie Elam as one of the teachers. It should have read Miss Nancy Elam. Miss Nancy is a graduate of the West Liberty high school and will no doubt perform her duties with credit.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Baldwin returned from Louisville Friday. Mr. Baldwin is much improved and able to walk about in the house. Mrs. Baldwin's nurse pupils are glad to have her back. It is hard for the school to think of Christmas without her in the program.

SOCIETY ENTERTAINS

The Methodist Missionary Society entertained beautifully with a silver tea, at the home of Mrs. C. K. Stacy Thursday afternoon, Nov. 22. After singing "Best Be The Tie," and prayer by Rev. I. J. Scudder, Mrs. Scudder, the president, took charge and gave a very interesting talk, after which she introduced Mrs. J. C. Alter of Ezel.

Mrs. Alter with much ease and grace gave a very important talk on conditions in India. She gave as one of the great evils of India, the degradation of womanhood. Also child marriage as another great curse of Hinduism, and the caste system, which is observed more than the law of conscience.

Needs of the Missionary field was very impressively brought to us, first, that the Christians in the homeland live deeply spiritual lives; that they keep the love of God warming their hearts.

During the social hour a number of interesting games were played and enjoyed by everyone. Tea and waffles were served to the following guests: Mesdames: Lizzie Kash, Elie McGuire, J. C. Alter, Jake Wells, Roy Myers, Flora Carr, Goldie Dennis, and O. R. Motley of Ezel; M. R. Elam, G. W. Leslie, and J. D. Whiteaker of Cannel City; I. J. Scudder, W. H. Childers, Earl Price, James Perry, Herbert Trayner, N. C. Gullett, T. H. Caskey, D. R. Keeton, Ada Cochran, James Franklin, C. P. Henry, H. R. Stacy, Henry Cole, W. H. Stacy and Rev. L. A. Scudder of West Liberty.

FEED FOR BIRDS

From actual field tests conducted by Iowa state college, under the supervision of Prof. Paul L. Errington of the More Game Birds Foundation, it is quite evident that 30 percent of the birds may be shot and bagged without damaging the next year's crop of quail.

The shortage of food thru February and March kills more quail than all the hunters. You all know that something is wrong when you have brought thru a fine covey of quail unshot and next year you have no increase or possibly two instead of the one. What is the keystone that holds the arch? Cane, more cane.

We hope that the landowners who posted their holding this season and fought the hunters off, will not be inconsistent and selfcontradicting, but carry on the good work by planting a small patch of cane to seed and fall over.

Don't you all feel rather concerned with this snow, where our feathered friends are going to get their food? Cane has three outstanding features: food, shelter, and protection from hawks.

We wish to thank the people of Morgan county for going over the top in securing hunting licenses this season, which makes us assured in having the game and fish department supplying us a good plant of fish and game birds in 1935. You see, it's like this, you plank down a dollar for a license. That is not thrown away, but it is an investment and it also becomes the duty of the game and fish commission and wardens to see that you get your money's worth.

We have not made a thoro check of the communities that have secured licenses, but roughly speaking would place Ezel at the top and Wrigley at the bottom. Of course this does not include West Liberty. You boys on route 40, from Grassy on out—thanks. GEO. S. OWSLEY, Sec., Morgan Co. Fish & Game Club.

LET US NOT BE FORGOTTEN

by Theoda Hart Stackhouse

Let us not be forgotten, we who wait
 Sad-eyed and wistful, chained
 Exiles from life by this mad jest of Fate.
 Weary with lost dreams, we the living-dead.

Send us then some small token, only say
 We are remembered, that somewhere hearts still yearn
 At our long absence, as day
 by weary day
 Grow into months and years
 ere we return.

We will fight on then smiling,
 knowing life
 If we be not forgotten, in the end
 Is worth the lonely hours of pain and strife
 While love abides, and we have yet a friend.

For the past two years Miss Stackhouse has been a shut-in. Her case is typical of thousands of tuberculosis patients who are "taking the cure" in hundreds of sanatoria today. She had tuberculosis as a child, but had almost forgotten the experience in the excitement of acquiring an education, the hectic rush of newspaper work, and the absorption of writing fiction. She was well furnished as a writer when a second breakdown forced her to enter a sanatorium in her native state of Oregon. Her medical history illustrates why tuberculosis associations, with the help of Christmas Seals, strive to impress upon the public: "Protect children from tuberculosis."

"Lone Wolf's" Tracks in the Christmas Snow

THERE he stood—"The Lone Wolf!" halfway down the hillside midst a snow-covered landscape, the moon and stars disclosing his tracks and shadow figure upon the glistening sheet of ice-coated snow. He gazed hungrily toward a small group of houses huddled together at the foot of the hill, a faint light gleaming from their windows.

As Mary Louise was absorbed in turkey-dressing, cranberries, recipe books and Christmas spices, her thoughts wandered to this beautiful picture—"The Lone Wolf." For many years she had longed to possess it, but her husband did not approve, so she had done without it.

Mary Louise brushed away a tear as she thought of the coveted picture and then promptly forgot all about it in her loving efforts to make her family happy on Christmas.

When all was in readiness and the tree beautifully trimmed, Mary Louise called in the family for the Christmas celebration. How the children danced and tore about the toy-strewn living room! How dear old John absorbed himself in his brand-new smoking outfit!

Was Mary Louise to receive nothing?

Turning, she saw John tucking up the most adorable bit of tapestry he had ever seen—"The Lone Wolf!" Just the thing for that great empty wall space! "Merry Christmas, Mary," said John, as they all stood gazing upon "The Lone Wolf" with his tracks in the snow.—Alice B. Palmer.

Christmas Radio Skit That "Went Over" Big

"WHY don't you try a radio skit for XYZ?" Dick Hassel had written his mother, Grace.

Grace tried it and was as much surprised as anyone when it was accepted to be broadcast at seven o'clock, Christmas eve.

Mrs. Hassel had been greatly disappointed when Dick, for lack of finances, had to give up studying for the ministry and had gone to work in the big city. Recently he had written that he had a new job, a surprise, that he would tell Mother Grace and Father Jim about at Christmas.

Because Grace had always pictured Dick as the popular young minister, she featured the idea in her play, with the beautiful organist as his sweetheart.

Christmas eve Jim tuned in on XYZ. Promptly at seven came the theme song; then, to their amazement, a voice strangely familiar.

"This is station XYZ."

Then another voice: "Our play this evening, 'The New Minister,' is written by our announcer's mother, Mrs. Grace Hassel. Our popular announcer, Dick Hassel, will take the part of the minister."

"Of all things!" Grace exclaimed. "The young scamp!"

"No wonder your skit went over so fast," Jim grinned.

"Now, listen! We're missing it," Grace happily admonished as the young minister's voice announced that the audience would join in singing "Joy to the World."—Florence Harris Wells.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

THE carol was originally a joyous dance, a sign of liberation from the religious austerity of the Puritan era. Percy Dearnam, writing in "The Oxford Book of Carols," says: "The carol, by forsaking the timeless contemplative melodies of the church, began the era of modern music, which throughout has been based on the dance."

Cheese Rind for Birds

In a recent discussion of the best way of feeding birds in the garden, one experimenter put forward the rind of a Stilton cheese as the supreme Christmas fare! Birds of many sorts, especially the robin, are greedily fond of it. They have a desire for fat and the cheese provides this in association with other virtues. If we feed birds for the sake of watching them as well as for comforting them, the rind, if preserved in more or less unbroken form, has the advantage that it cannot be carried away and attracts five or six species of bird if no more.—London Spectator.

The amount received for ten pies, a guess cake, and in the beauty contest was $7.28. The two girls who received the honor were Miss Mary Griffith of White Oak and Miss Hazel Prater of Cannel City.

As the yule time season is drawing near we should begin to manifest the Christ-like spirit, if we wish to have a merry Christmas. Why not share your joys, presents, and friendship with others, and see if we don't forget about our own happiness? The writer wishes each reader of the Courier a most charming Christmas spirit that will illuminate not only in their own lives but will help others to see life as they should. I also extend my deepest regards to the Courier publisher and his entire staff for their work and love they have given us correspondents this year. We wish you a merry Christmas—you bet!

The snow from the Rocky mountains is here at last. The largest snow is now in Chicago, that has fallen in December within the last 40 years. As the predictions are this will be the coldest winter we have ever had, let's prepare for it, with coal in the pen and hay in the rack so all may be happy.

John W. Oney, who has been ill for some time is somewhat better.

DANIEL BOONE and KENTUCKY

by Dr. Charles M. Knapp

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

When Daniel Boone was 18 his father, Squire Boone, decided to leave Pennsylvania and settle somewhere farther to the southward as so many others on the Pennsylvania frontier were doing. At that time Daniel had just about reached manhood, according to the thought of that period. He had had the usual training of the frontier boy, possessing an excellent knowledge of woodcraft, hunting and trapping, and how to live for weeks at a time in the wilderness, far from home; skill in the use of the rifle and its repair and care, in repairing traps and the usual knowledge of herding and farming on the frontier. In addition he possessed a knowledge of the rudiments of reading, writing and arithmetic. All this was added to a strong physique, a body trained in all the athletics of the border. So equipped Daniel Boone started southward in the year 1750.

Sometime in the autumn of 1751 Squire Boone and his family finally reached the Yadkin valley of North Carolina. There he located a claim at Buffalo Lick, where Dutchman's Creek enters the north fork of Yadkin. There Daniel resumed work on his father's farm and helped at his father's forge. But the country was alive with game, particularly with buffalo, and Daniel was soon spending more time in hunting than on the farm or at the forge. Unquestionably he found it more profitable too, since good prices were paid for furs and hides at the market towns, such as Salisbury, which was about 20 miles away.

When the Boones reached North Carolina the settlers were still on good terms with the Catawba Indians about 60 miles distant and with the Cherokees somewhat farther to the west and particularly the Shawnees, frequently southwest. But northern traders, who had taken up claims on the old time war path of the marauders, had then Daniel Boone probably obtained his first real experience in Indian warfare.

In 1754 the entire American border from the Yadkin to the St. Lawrence in the far north became deeply concerned with the Indian question. In the Ohio valley for some years, French and English fur traders had carried on a keen rivalry for the Indian trade, each trying to supplant entirely the other. As early as 1748 backwoodsmen from Virginia had made a small settlement on the New River, just west of the Alleghenies. In the next year two adventurous Virginians, who had marked out land claims in Kentucky and Tennessee, in 1750 the Land Company was organized for the purpose of trading and colonizing the western lands. Among the members were two brothers of George Washington. Meanwhile the French were active too, in exploring and developing plans for holding the valley, building forts here and there in the Ohio valley. In 1754 plans were ready for the construction of a more elaborate fort at the forks of the Ohio, where Pittsburg now stands, which was the key to the control of the whole valley, at least on the east. Obviously a crisis was thus approaching for the western frontier.

TO TAKE FARM CENSUS

Farm census headquarters for the sixth Census District of Kentucky have been established at Postoffice Building, Ashland, according to an announcement by S. M. Estill, district census supervisor. This district includes the counties of Bracken, Mason, Robertson, Fleming, Lewis, Greenup, Boyd, Carter, Rowan, Bath, Nicholas, Montgomery, Powell, Menifee, Wolf, Breathitt, Morgan, Lawrence, Elliot, Harrison.

The actual work of taking the census is scheduled to begin Jan. 2, 1935. William L. Austin, Director, Bureau of the Census, urges all farmers and ranchers who have not received a sample copy of the schedule to procure one at the earliest possible moment so that they may give careful study to the questions and be prepared to give full and accurate information when the enumerator calls. Copies may be obtained by writing to your district supervisor.

The schedule is divided into eight basic sections comprising of one hundred questions covering practically every phase of the agricultural industry. Of course, every farmer will not have to answer all of these questions, only those pertaining to his particular lines of activity. The questions will cover the calendar year 1934.

The enumerators will make inquiry as to farm tenure; farm acreage, which includes all crop land, all pasture land and all farm woodland; the total value of the farm; acreage and yield of each of the principal crops and vegetables; the number of trees and yield of the principal fruits and nuts; number and value of each class of livestock; poultry and eggs; and farm population.

Director Austin has declared that this is the most significant farm enumeration since the inception of agricultural statistics in 1840, and he earnestly requests the cooperation of all farmers and ranches to the end that complete and accurate statistics may be procured and tabulated at the earliest possible moment. The unprecedented destruction of crops and livestock caused by the drought and the many changes which have occurred in farms and ranches and in the utilization of land due to the depression of the past few years make it imperative that the farm statistics be available as soon as possible, if agriculture is to be assisted in going forward with other industries.

The Director desires to call attention to the Section of the Fifteenth Census Act, approved June 18, 1929, which makes it unlawful for any person to refuse to answer questions on the Census schedule:

"Sec. 9. That it shall be the duty of all persons over eighteen years of age when requested by the Director of the Census, or by any supervisor, enumerator, or special agent, or other employee of the Census Office, acting under the instructions of the said director, to answer correctly, to the best of their knowledge, all questions on the census schedules applying to themselves and to the families to which they belong or are related, and to the farm or farms of which they or their families are the occupants; and any person over eighteen years of age who, under the conditions hereinbefore stated, shall refuse or willfully neglect to answer any of these questions, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding $100 or be imprisoned not exceeding sixty days, or both, and any such person who shall willfully give answers that are false shall be fined not exceeding $500 or be imprisoned not exceeding one year, or both...."
